

Watch LiveSubscribeSign InHome News Sport Business Technology Health Culture Arts Travel Earth Audio Video Liv

Mexico demands answers after another migrant dies in ICE custody

30 March 2026

ShareSaveAdd as preferred on GoogleNardine Saad

Los Angeles

Mexico announces support of lawsuit against ICE after deaths in custody

Mexican President Claudia Sheinbaum has vowed to take action after the death of another Mexican national in US immigration custody.

Jose Guadalupe Ramos-Solano died last week at a detention centre in Adelanto, southern California - the fourth fatality at the facility this year.

He is the 14th migrant to have died in Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) custody this year. His cause of death has not yet been determined.

Mexico's government is filing a legal brief as part of a class-action lawsuit alleging unconstitutional conditions at the centre. The number of immigrants in ICE custody is among the highest ever, with 68,000 held as of last month.

Ramos-Solano, 52, died on 25 March while being held at the Adelanto ICE Processing Center, the agency said.

ICE said that Ramos-Solano, who had been convicted of possession of a controlled substance and theft, was in the US illegally.

Life-saving measures, including CPR, were immediately initiated as Ramos-Solano was found "unconscious and unresponsive in his bunk", but he was pronounced dead at a nearby hospital, according to ICE.

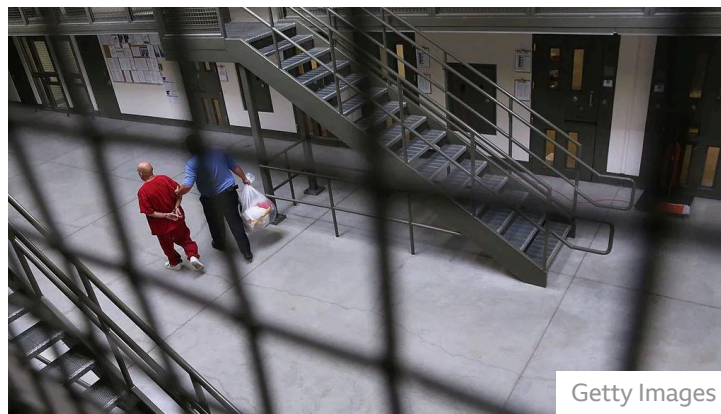

The agency said a medical screening of Ramos-Solano after his arrest in February found he had diabetes, high cholesterol and blood pressure.

It said he had "received constant medical care while he was in custody, including daily medication to treat his illness".

Ramos-Solano and the three others who died at the Adelanto ICE facility were Mexican nationals, raising this year's nationwide deaths in ICE custody to 14.

Last year, ICE hit a two-decade high when it reported 31 detainee deaths.

This year's death toll appears on track to outpace last year's as President Donald Trump's administration cracks down on illegal immigration.

Four Mexican nationals have died in US federal custody at the ICE detention facility in Adelanto, California.

President Sheinbaum told her daily morning press conference on Monday that Mexico was "going to take greater measures".

"We're going to take several steps to protest the death of yet another Mexican national in the United States," she said.

During a news conference at the Mexican consulate in Los Angeles on Monday, Ramos-Solano's children briefly spoke through tears.

"What happened to my dad was very inhumane," said his daughter, Gloria Ramos. "I think my family and I deserve to know the truth of what happened to my dad."

Vanessa Calva Ruiz, director general for consular protection and strategic planning, told the news conference: "The government of Mexico will exhaust all legal, diplomatic and multilateral avenues to demand justice."

Mexico's government said it supported a class-action lawsuit filed in January against the GEO Group Inc, a private contractor that operates the Adelanto facility.

The legal action alleges detainees at the detention centre face mould, disease, medical neglect and inadequate food and water.

Representatives for the Geo Group did not immediately respond to a BBC request for comment.

It has previously said its facilities offer round-the-clock medical care and are monitored by the Department of Homeland Security to ensure compliance.

US immigration

Mexico

United States

California

RELATED

Trump signs bill to end record shutdown over immigration enforcement

'We cried together': Trump's deportation drive forces tough decisions for couples

India condemns remarks shared by Trump calling it a 'hellhole'

MORE FROM THE BBC

32 mins ago

Germany says US troop withdrawal 'foreseeable' as Nato seeks clarification

In the US, two senior Republicans voice concern over President Trump's decision to pull out 5,000 troops.

32 mins ago

43 mins ago

Trump tells Congress ceasefire means he does not need their approval for Iran war

The president writes that hostilities "have terminated" because of the ceasefire, arguing he does not need congressional authorisation.

43 mins ago

3 hrs ago

US Supreme Court asked to restore abortion pill access

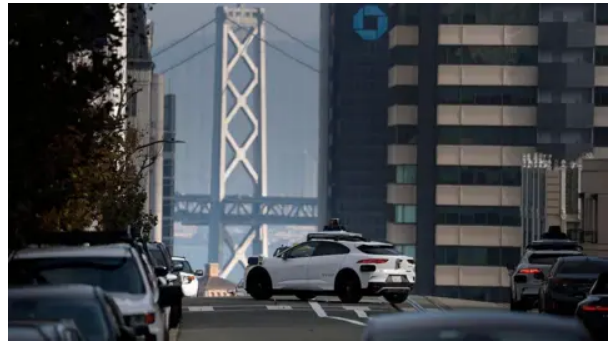

A lower court has limited mail-order access to the abortion pill mifepristone, which the drug's maker says will cause "irreparable harm".

3 hrs ago

8 hrs ago

California to begin ticketing driverless cars that violate traffic laws

Under the new rules, police will be able to issue tickets directly to the car's manufacturer when an autonomous vehicle breaks a traffic law.

8 hrs ago

---

9 hrs ago

US threatens shipping firms with sanctions if they pay Iran tolls

The warning comes as President Donald Trump said he was "not excited" by Iran's latest proposal for a peace deal.

9 hrs ago

Home News Sport Business Technology Health Culture Arts Travel Earth Audio Video
Live Documentaries Weather BBC Shop BritBox

BBC in other languages ▼

---

Follow BBC on:

Terms of Use Subscription Terms About the BBC Privacy Policy Cookies Accessibility Help Contact the BBC

Advertise with us Do not share or sell my info BBC.com Help & FAQs Content Index Set Preferred Source

Copyright 2026 BBC. All rights reserved. The BBC is not responsible for the content of external sites. Read about our approach to external linking.